49TH ANNUAL SHOW & REUNION

Featuring Allis-Chalmers & Rumely Tractors and Equipment

FEATURE TRACTORS AND EQUIPMENT

The Allis-Chalmers Company was formed in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, in 1901 by the merger of the Edward P. Allis Company, Fraser and Chalmers Company, Gates Iron Works, and Dickson Manufacturing Company. Allis-Chalmers was an industrial conglomerate, manufacturing farm, mining, and industrial equipment. Financial difficulties led to dissolution in 1985. The farm equipment operations were sold to Klockner-Humboldt-Deutz of Germany. Tractor production continued under the Deutz-Allis name until 1989, when management purchased the company to form AGCO.

Rumely started in 1853 in La Porte, Indiana manufacturing threshers and later moved on to steam engines. The first internal combustion tractor at the company was the OilPull, launched in 1910, with an oil-cooled engine. A 1911 merger with the Advance Thresher Company changed the name to Advance-Rumely. In the late 1920s, Advance-Rumely attempted to enter the market for smaller tractors with the DoAll and the 6A, but had difficulty. Allis-Chalmers purchased Advance-Rumely in 1931 and stopped production of all models.
